

UNICEF

The goal of UNICEF's children's rights and business agenda is to promote the corporate responsibility to respect and support children's rights in the workplace, marketplace and community in conjunction with the government duty to protect and safeguard children's rights.

Building on the 'Protect, Respect and Remedy' framework, set out in the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights (UNGPs), UNICEF engages governments, companies and civil society to place children's rights at the heart of the corporate social responsibility agenda.
