

Alas20

ALAS20 is an initiative of GovernArt, a think tank and ESG (environmental, social and corporate governance) advisory firm, with headquarters in Santiago, Chile.

GovernArt is the founder, owner, and organizer of ALAS20 in Latin America.

Although many companies and professionals are working hard to integrate good practices of sustainable development into the core of their businesses, to date no recognition has been made of those who truly stand out for their leadership in the public disclosure of information on sustainability, corporate governance, and responsible investment.

ALAS20 is an Agenda for Sustainable Leaders that promotes and recognizes those companies, investors and professionals who stand out for their leadership and actively contribute to sustainable development towards the year 2020, welcoming the third decade of the twenty-first century.
