

Caribbean Policy Research Institute

The Caribbean Policy Research Institute (CaPRI) is a think tank which promotes evidence-based policy dialogue within Caribbean societies.

The ultimate goal and mission of the Institute is to change the various national policy-making environments - public and private sector - in the Caribbean to one based on research (comparative and otherwise) from one based on partisanship and polemic.

The reports produced by CaPRI have included studies on: Corruption in Jamaica, Jamaica's Foreign Policy, the Impact of Hurricane Dean, and Informal Investment Schemes in Jamaica and Educational Reform in Jamaica.
